Bachelor of Science in Applied Psychology

Sep '17 - Jul '20

Royal Holloway University of London

London, UK

This Applied Psychology undergraduate programme at Royal Holloway was designed to provide us students with an in-depth understanding of psychological research methods and principles. Through a combination of interactive lectures and practical lab-based workshops, I gained the essential skills needed to design and carry out my own research projects. The structure and requirements of the undergraduate programme also offered the opportunity to develop communication and problem-solving skills.
